

The Easy Way to Manage Business Agreements

OVERVIEW

On-Demand Contract Management

The Impact of Agreements

Every organization uses business agreements to define its relationships with customers, vendors, partners and employees. From sales and support contracts to employment agreements and NDAs, these documents contain key dates, deadlines and terms that can have a significant impact on your business. However, sifting through complex documents to find the information you need, when you need it, can be a difficult and time-consuming task.

On-Demand Contract Intelligence™

Mumboe is an affordable, on-demand application that makes it easy to track and manage the important details often buried in complex business agreements. With Mumboe, users can:

- Store agreements in a secure, central location
- Automatically extract key agreement details
- Quickly search for agreements or for specific text within an agreement
- Share agreements with authorized users
- Set alerts for key dates and assign tasks

Using Mumboe, small and growing businesses, as well as enterprise departments and workgroups, can quickly cut through the legal “mumbo jumbo” that often obscures important contract information to find the details that matter to your business.

Easy, Affordable, Secure

Mumboe’s free starter account and affordable, pay as you go pricing are designed to give cost-conscious businesses a clear alternative to enterprise contract management systems. In addition, Mumboe’s encrypted, password protected accounts and permission-based security give you complete control of your contracts. With thousands of registered users, Mumboe is a reliable, risk-free choice for managing your important business agreements.
